RETTA CHRISTIE with David Evans & Dave Frishberg: If Frish sees something in an Oregon farm kid, that's recommendation enough for me to see what's going on. Bet he was attracted by that off centered something he saw in Blossom Dearie a million years ago. Christie doesn't bother to define herself by anything and does music she enjoys, with some great chops at the ready to swing along. This might have been considered a charming boite classic back in the day, now it's a fun romp by people unhampered by the machine and wanting to share the fun. Check it out.
